Deziak Clan Teams With Grammy-Nominated Producer on New Album

CARSON, CA-November 10, 2005. Deziak Clan has been hitting the studio hard recording hot tracks for their much-anticipated second album Ghetto Gumbo, and adding beats to their street-edgy lyrics is none other than Grammy-nominated producer Kee Swizzo. Swizzo has added his beats to various projects for major labels including Universal Music Group, Sony Music USA, A & M Records, and Warner Music Group, covering all music genres from Rap and Hip Hop to Gospel, and now he's putting his beats to the raps and rhymes of Deziak Clan.

On their new album Ghetto Gumbo, Deziak Clan creates a unique blend of musical talent, catering to music fans worldwide.

"It's called Ghetto Gumbo because it's like a pot of different spices mixed into one-sex, politics, entertainment and controversy-all delivered in a combination of styles, from R & B and Rap to the spoken word," said Xstasy E, Co-CEO of Deziak Entertainment.

Deziak Clan's first release from the new album is a double single featuring "Coyote-Kill da Minute Men," a Latin-influenced song rapping the struggles of reaching the American dream, and "Talk Dirty," a Rap and Hip Hop collage of real-life sexual cyber fantasies described by each member of Deziak Clan-Emery Finagler, Xstasy E, Shottie Recendes, and 4 to the S.

Other tracks featured on the album include "Fall Down, Get Up," which is an uplifting, edgy street song where rapper Emery Finagler talks to single mothers and the military fighting overseas to motivate them through the hardships they face. Finagler also hits on controversial topics such as the politics surrounding oil, being gay in the military service, and the scandal at Abu Ghraib Prison.

"Waiting for Destruction" is a song rapping the hustle around staying up in the music business and thugs with no hope in the hood, and it features 4 to the S expressing his anger over the mistreatment of the group New Edition, and a music executive's lack of respect for the group's status as music veterans.

This is just a glimpse into the Ghetto Gumbo musical collaboration between Deziak Clan and Kee Swizzo. This new album from Deziak Clan has much more creative ingenuity in store for music lovers worldwide. Ghetto Gumbo is scheduled to drop in the first quarter of 2006, on the heels of Deziak Clan's successful first album Durty Dallas Days and Los Skandelous Wayz, which received impressive support along the West Coast and Southern United States.

Media interested in receiving Ghetto Gumbo music samples or conducting interviews should send their request to Emery Morrison at DeziakPR@Deziak.com.

Deziak Clan is a fusion of sexual to controversial gutter urban poetry with street-edgy raps laced with smooth R & B melodies from Black and Latino perspectives-music that will give you the ultimate high. It's all about ridin, chillin and bouncin to hot tracks with tight lyrics. The artists come from Kansas City, Dallas and Southern Cali, and each brings a unique blend of personality and sound. The beats are created by the hot production team of Emery Finagler and Grammy-nominated producer Kee Swizzo Their music has recently been featured on the CBS television series, Without a Trace, as well as being placed in several films to be released in 2006. The music is getting radio airplay and club DJs are playing their vinyl across the country and in Japan. Deziak Clan recently signed an agreement to license their songs for ringtone downloads to be available in Asia, Europe and the United States. Deziak Clan has opened for major acts and has performed at major concert venues such as the HOUSE OF BLUES. Recently they were chosen to showcase in a major Los Angeles Fundraiser for Make a Wish Foundation at Hollywood-famous The Knitting Factory. They have been filmed, reviewed, photographed, and interviewed by Access Hollywood, MTV, Music Plus and Music Connection. Their CD "Durty Dallas Days and Los Skandelous Wayz" can be found at Tower Records, FYE, and Virgin Mega Stores as well as on CD Baby. Deziak Clan is busy working on their second CD and their clothing line Deziak Wear is busting out of stores wherever they are sold.

Deziak Entertainment was founded in 1999 by two street-educated, business-smart hustling cousins Emery Morrison and Elgin Mack. The two started out selling Deziak Entertainment tee shirts and CDs in the streets of California and eventually expanded their entertainment hustle and grind to Arizona, Texas, and all of the Southwestern United States, and internationally to Japan. Deziak Entertainment is comprised of Deziak Clan, Deziak Clan-Hiphopera, P2, Shottie Recendes, 4 to the S and Deziak Wear.
